WHERE POLICE FEAR TO TREAD

NORMAL POLICING OF some inner city areas has become impossible because of the fear of provoking repercussion.

This is the candid opinion of Leslie Curtis, chairman of the Police Federation.

In what amounted to a direct challenge to the denials of chief constables that 'no-go areas' exist, Mr Curtis said: "The police sometimes have the feeling that the traditional measured tread of the beat bobby has given way to tip-toeing on eggshells. Conventional policing cannot operate for fear of repercussion."

The Police, he said, were now "conspicuous by their absence" in many areas where they were most needed.

In what amounted to a scathing attack on police policy in immigrant areas, Mr Curtis condemned the pussyfooting of his superiors: "While chief officers may indignantly deny that they have no areas which are 'no-go areas', the reality is that the police can only operate in some areas, in such restricted circumstances, that they cannot provide effective, preventive patrolling.

"It is a worrying situation" he continued, "because there are signs that it is spreading from the notorious inner city locations to other areas. So long as the police are denied the manpower they require they will never be able to establish an effective presence in the areas where the public is most at risk."

Clearly not one to beat about the bush, Mr Curtis put the situation into perspective by claiming that the police service was facing a situation more serious than at any time in its history.

Mr Curtis's comments at this year's Police Federation conference are indeed most welcome. At last a senior policeman has come out and said what law-abiding people in inner city areas have known all along.

The fact is that law-abiding British people are being wilfully sacrificed on the altar of multi-racialism. They are being left at the mercy of muggers, murderers, rapists and rioters. They must suffer in silence in the interests of race relations.

It seems that British people in 'racially-sensitive' inner city areas have no voice but the National Front.

Meanwhile, the victims of crime can scream forever but no-one will come. The only scream which is seldom heard in the inner city 'no-go areas' is a police siren.

■ BURNT OUT: A shop in the Chapeltown area of Leeds. At the height of a week of rioting Police withdrew from the area leaving rampaging mobs of coloured youths to loot, mug and burn.

Muggings Up

MUGGING HAS risen a shocking 16% in the first half of 1987 in the Metropolitan Police area.

In the West Midlands woundings were up by 16% and malicious damage up by 14%.

The figures released on August 6th are an appalling reminder of the danger that faces British people on the streets of their country.

Black Power

A NEW housing policy in Ealing has been introduced to enable black people to report racial harassment without needing to have any evidence.

White council tenants can now be evicted from their homes just on the word of a coloured immigrant.

Ealing Council race equality chairman Ranjit Dheer said that new rules mean black people no longer have to prove they are being racially harassed. House managers will assume all complaints are justified.

NATIONAL FRONT: A Summer of Activity

■ Over 2100's worth of papers sold in Southport. Just one of the many papersales that took place during July.

THE SUMMER of 1987 has seen more National Front activity than at any time of the past five years.

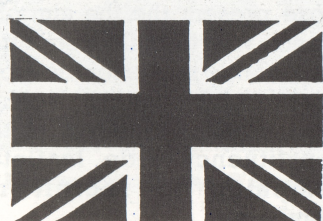

Throughout the country branches have been taking to the streets spreading the message of the National Front to the British people. Branch after branch has reported selling out of the July issue of The FLAG and Vanguard sales have reached an all time high.

The publicity gained by the SEAT campaign together with other activities organised by branches has led to excellent local press coverage.

The momentum achieved during July looks certain to be maintained ensuring that the Front is in great shape for the Autumn with its marches and Annual General Meeting.

HARD WORK

The National Front has a great opportunity over the coming years to make its mark on Britain's political scene. Such a mark can only be achieved by the hard work of branches up and down the country. July has given us an excellent start — Let's make sure we keep up the good work.

Incompatible Ethnic Traditions

MR Gordon Smith is headmaster of Belmont Mill Hill Junior School, North London and is also Chairman of the Incorporated Association of Preparatory Schools. Speaking at a conference in Oxford he said:-

"Some of us have large numbers of parents who wish their children to be educated in the British independent school system and yet to maintain the traditions and indeed language of their country of origin. These two wishes are often incompatible and produce great tensions in the child".

In other words you cannot teach an Asian or Black child to be British - it won't work. Could sense finally be percolating into the teaching profession?

Policeman Stabbed Outside Club

A POLICEMAN was stabbed and four other officers injured during a furious brawl outside Wycombe's Multi-racial Centre at midnight on Friday 3rd July.

Reinforcements had to be called from all over the county as members of a 200 strong crowd fought with the officers, inflicting wounds which require hospital treatment.

Detective Chief Inspector Laurie Ekins who is leading the investigation into the incident said that the injured policeman had been pursuing a car thief who had sought refuge in the centre. 'PC Butcher was then surrounded by a number of West Indian youths and punched and kicked, during which he received a stab wound on the left hand side of his chest just below the heart.'

What a Waste of Money

THE British Scout Association is to spend £100,000 during the next three years in an attempt to attract thousands of young Moslems into its ranks.

The project, the most costly the scout movement has launched in its 80 year history, means they will be alternative wording of the traditional scout promise.

Moslem recruits will be offered the option of pledging to do their duty to 'Allah and the Queen' instead of 'God and the Queen', and if they are not British nationals, they may also replace mention of the sovereign with 'the country I am now living in'. What a bloody waste of money!

Inquiry

THE Police Complaint's Authority have published an interim report relating to a complaint by National Front Chairman, Martin Wingfield, against the Officers of the Metropolitan Police during the Greenwich By-Election.

Investigations have been made into the complaint that:-

Prior to the meeting police officers had allowed persons to assault National Front supporters at Charlton Railway Station.

BRITISH WORKERS OR JAPANESE ANTS

■ Norman Tebbit gives more British Jobs to the Japanese

MRS Thatcher has recently received some advice on how to continue to try to turn British workers and craftsmen into unthinking Japanese worker ants. Dr Jean Pierre Lehmann, former head of Japanese studies of Stirling University has produced a set of 'Ten Commandments' to help British companies compete with Japanese firms.

These 'Commandments' include: giving up at least half of the normal holiday entitlement, be at the workplace from at least 8.00am until 6.00p.m., work at least half a day on Saturday; take only half an hour for lunch...

After delivering his 'Ten Commandments' at a conference of 600 company personnel managers on 18th June in London he said that restoring the work ethic would reverse the trend of a rapidly deteriorating level of productivity.

Dr Lehmann, having spent years in his ivory tower, seems to forget about the reasons why people work. People work either because they enjoy their work or because it enables them to earn money to do other things; in an ideal world both would be true. Dr Lehmann wants them to be slaves to their factory, not to be individuals, and to have no time of their own to spend with their families - unless he is suggesting that they should all work 60 hours a week in the same factory.

If Dr Lehmann wishes to be a Japanese worker ant, then we have a suggestion: "Go Back to Japan". Meanwhile British workers will continue to be human beings and the National Front will stop their jobs from being threatened by banning the competing Japanese goods that are produced in their ant nests.

RACE RIOT AFTER PRINCE VISITS EAST END

■ The smiles cover up the racial tension

AT the beginning of July Prince Charles was featured on all the news programmes on television when he visited the East End of London. He was shown visiting an Asian sweatshop where he "tut-tutted" over the conditions while studiously avoiding mentioning whether the owner was Asian and whether he was complying with the relevant factory acts.

After somehow trying to blame White society for the conditions in which these Asian immigrants were working, Prince Charles left the area. He clearly left behind him a marvellous impression of racial harmony because within 48 hours a major race riot broke out in the same area.

Two large groups, one Asian, on White, numbering about 300 people fought it out on the streets and ended up with a number of people in hospital. The police moved in as it was nearly over and only arrested seven people.

Perhaps Prince Charles should concern himself with the real reason for racial violence - it has nothing to do with the conditions in which Asians live - it is an inevitable consequence of Blacks living in Britain. It will only be solved when the National Front implements its policy of the complete repatriation of all coloured immigrants.

As More Jobs are Threatened . . .

Nationalism is the only answer to Multinationalism

UP to 800 jobs are at risk following the decision of the American company General Motors to sell or close its Bedford design centre at Luton and a vehicle test track in Bedfordshire. Once again hundreds of British workers are threatened with redundancy because of decisions made thousands of miles away by directors of multinational companies who don't care about Britain or about British workers.

With so much of British industry controlled by foreign companies there is precious little that British workers can do to safeguard their jobs. Furthermore, the Tory Government also does precious little to safeguard jobs threatened by multinational companies. In fact, the Tories actually support the right of foreign companies to close down subsidiaries whenever they please regardless of the cost to jobs. After all, multinational corporations are the gods of the international capitalist system which the Conservatives worship so religiously. To interfere with the "freedom" of multinationals to shut up shop and move to another part of the world would be considered blasphemous by the Tories!

The National Front, on the other hand, has no such loyalty to multinational corporations. The NF's loyalty lies squarely with the British Nation and the British people. As such, the NF would restore British ownership to British industry. And that means foreign companies like General Motors will have their British plants requisitioned by the Government who will then transform them into producers' co-operatives owned and controlled by their workforces.

These British companies owned by British workers will then be able to sell their products to a home market protected from unfair foreign competition by import controls on all manufactured goods which could and should be produced in Britain.

Only through these policies of economic Nationalism, and through these policies alone, will the workers at Luton and thousands of others like them up and down the country be safe at last from the ever present threat of redundancy.

Racial Tension rises in America

A NEW wave of racial violence seems set to explode in America. Over the last year the police have reported a sharp rise in racial attacks. In recent weeks two events have heightened tension still further.

The acquittal of "the subway vigilante" Mr Bernard Goetz who shot a gang of Black muggers came as a nasty shock to Blacks who have become used to the establishment falling over backwards to put them first.

Meanwhile civil rights leaders are up in arms at the nomination of Judge Robert Bork as a Supreme Court Judge. Mrs Coretta Scott King, widow of Martin Luther King, said in early July:-

"We must make sure our senators understand that their vote against Mr Bork's nomination is a prerequisite for our support in the next election".

This clear polarisation between Blacks and Whites is producing a determination amongst ordinary White people to prevent Blacks moving into predominantly White areas. In a number of areas this has resulted in near epidemics of racial clashes.

Even in New York which has a Jewish mayor and a Black police commissioner there has been an upsurge in racial violence.

What happens in America will have to be solved by Americans - but it is said that what happens in America today what happens in Britain a couple of years later.

Still Growing in Greenwich

GREENWICH National Front formed after the by-election last February continues to go from strength to strength.

Under the guidance of Organiser Paul Ash and Chairman Les Bristo the branch has been establishing the NF in the area.

Steve Brady was guest speaker at their July meeting where Ernest Gallagher was elected to the post of Treasurer and Paul Ash told those present the aim of the branch was to build a strong and respectable image for the Front in Greenwich by getting involved in local issues together with a constituency-wide leafletting campaign to recruit new members.

'Stop imports of Spanish cars' Front members picket garage

NATIONAL Front members picketed a Worthing garage on Saturday as part of a nationwide campaign to shut the floodgates on imported Spanish cars.

Bearing Union Jacks and

Report: Caroline Thomsett

banners, seven members of Worthing National Front demonstrated outside Seat dealers Worthing Motors, Broadwater Road, in a bid to encourage motorists to buy British.

During the peaceful demonstration, members distributed 1,000 leaflets which claimed that 100,000 Spanish cars would pour into Britain this year while this country was allowed to export only 7,000 cars to Spain.

'It is a token demonstration to show our disapproval that Spanish cars are imported into this country and yet all the obstacles are put on British cars being imported into Spain,' said Sussex National Front regional organiser Martin Wingfield.

'Every foreign car that is bought puts British workers on the dole.'

The campaign was aimed to draw the attention of car buyers, and he hoped motorists would think twice before buying a Spanish car.

Although he said it was 'appalling' that German and Japanese cars were bought and sold in this country, any campaign against them would be a 'loser' as so many had already been bought.

The National Front had pinpointed Spanish cars as they had only started flooding the market this year.

UP and down the country National Front branches have gained local publicity through their campaign against the import of SEAT cars into Britain. This publicity appeared in the Worthing Gazette.

It's Frontline Action in Kent

Selling Again After 7 Years

■ Coventry Paper Sale: Dean O'Brien, Paul O'Brien and Jamie Mullis

SATURDAY 10th July saw the first papersale by Coventry National Front for seven years.

The newly reformed Coventry Branch has wasted no time in getting things moving with various activities being planned weekly since its re-birth.

Kenilworth town centre was the venue for the first papersale with 5 Coventry members present together with John Hill the NF's West Midland organiser.

After the morning sale, members visited Kenilworth Castle with the day being rounded off with an informal social held at a local pub.

Front call for Action!

ENFIELD and Haringey National Front called for the deployment of the Metropolitan Police's Territorial Support Group to north and north east London to combat the latest form of street mugging called 'steaming', where large groups of youths up to 50 strong rob individual men and women. There have been several cases in North London.

FRONT PROFIT AT SOUTHPORT PARADES

IT is unfortunate, but probably true, that only a very few Nationalists are aware of the Southport Loyalists Parades in July on the weekend of the Twelfth, and the excellent opportunities they offer the National Front for getting its message across to people who should be our natural allies.

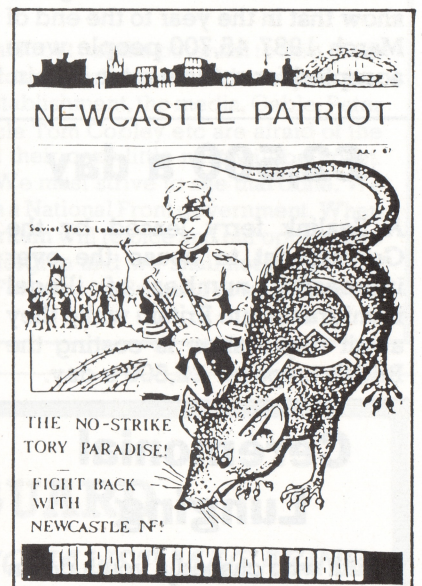

This was true even of local branches in previous years, but in 1987 Wirral NF determined to make a major effort for these colourful parades. We were not to be disappointed with the results, for when we came to count up the days takings we found that we had sold out of Vanguards, had only a few Flags left and had shattered several hundred badges, raising in all, just short of £100, despite our inexperience of the days activities.

With the support of the NF nationally, and other branches, this could turn into an important Nationalist activity, as well as being a very enjoyable day out for everyone concerned.

Finally, a word of thanks to the two super salesmen Mark and Norman from Birmingham NF, for their help on the paper sales. Hope to see you there next year when we will be back with more papers and badges, having learnt our lessons and knowing exactly the best places and times to sell.

VICTIMS OF RACISM

YET another Black pressure group has been formed to campaign for the release of the three men currently serving life sentences for the killing of PC Keith Blakelock during the riot on the Broadwater Farm Estate three years ago.

The Tottenham 3 Are Innocent Campaign has described Winston Silcott, Engin Raghupathi and Mark Braithwaite as "victims of a vicious, racist, revenge attack by the State".

The campaign intends to take to the streets of Brixton every Saturday to demand that the sentences be commuted.

QUEER

A weekend away on the rates is being offered by Camden Council to its gay employees.

They will be discussing 'internalised oppression and how to cope with heterosexism work'.

The council has also set up a unit of 'gay and lesbian trainers'.

Non Comprendre

SINGLE women in Ealing will get their council homes decorated FREE! — provided they don't speak English.

The council who raised their rates by a record 65% last year say that people who do speak English will have to pay for their decorating costs themselves.

Black Scribes

VAUXHALL college in London has launched a course aimed at increasing the number of Black journalists.

It will help 18 Black students to pass entrance examinations for recognised journalism training courses.

Still Coming In

IMMIGRATION in the first quarter of the year was 10,840.

Latest Home Office figures show that in the year to the end of March 1987 45,700 people were accepted for settlement in Britain.

£2,500 a day

A Sealink ferry leased by the Government to house the ever increasing number of illegal immigrants into Britain while they await deportation is costing the British taxpayer £2,500 a day.

Ceremonial Lunging

A Sikh who chased a youth down a Deptford street with his ceremonial sword was bound over to keep the peace for 12 months by Judge Shindler at the Inner London Crown Court.

Police had said that Mann Singh had lunged at them with the sword during the chase and had threatened to kill the youth after an argument in an off-license.

STAR WARS WORK STAYS IN AMERICA

■ Reagan: Is he taking the rise out of Britain?

WHEN Margaret Thatcher was singing the praises of President Reagan's 'Star Wars', one of the arguments she used was that by endorsing such a programme Britain would gain billions of pounds worth of contracts to help build it. Britain's endorsement of the programme was considered by the American government to be important in selling the whole idea to other NATO 'allies'.

Out of a total of about £3,000 million that has been spent so far a total of just £21 million has been spent in Britain. According to a report by the House of Commons Select Committee on Defence British companies are also being excluded from many areas of 'sensitive' research and development.

It is these areas which are likely to produce the so-called "spin-off technology" which involve substantial potential profits.

It is quite obvious that the American government doesn't trust British companies and is treating the British as a bunch of idiots. So much for Mrs Thatcher's 'special relationship' with President Reagan - more of a case of the spineless having a 'special relationship' with the brainless.

■ Mrs Thatcher duped by the Americans over Star Wars

ACTION — NORTH WALES

■ Paper sale in Chester City centre

THE National Front has been keeping itself busy in the North Wales and Chester area.

The Front has been active in Bangor, Conwy, Llandudno and Wrexham, while a papersale has also been held by the local unit in Chester.

Discussing his recruitment campaign with The FLAG, North Wales activist Jason Williams, said,

"Welsh people are amongst the most racially aware in Britain, they have suffered generation after generation of destruction and invasion by alien peoples, and its about time that it is realised that that Wales has only one hope left — the National Front.

"Only the National Front has the policies to revive the local industries in Wales and Welsh Pride".

It is hoped that the North Wales and Chester NF will have their own address soon, in the meantime the branch can be contacted by writing to:- The Secretary, North Wales and Chester NF, C/O. P.O.Box 17, Birkenhead, Wirral L41 3SF.

IBA WARNS ITN OVER NF SMEAR

THE Independent Broadcasting Authority has drawn ITN News's attention to a complaint made by the National Front over ITN's News Bulletin at 5.45pm on 8th May.

The complaint by the NF was that the Party had been unjustly linked with soccer violence in the bulletin by ITN reporter Terry Lloyd.

The IBA also noted the findings of the Police Complaints Authority whose report apologised to the National Front for inferences made at a Police press conference alleging the NF was involved in soccer violence.

TOO MANY IMMIGRANTS SAYS TORY MP

IN a letter to one of his constituents dated 7th July, Ian Gow, Conservative MP for Eastbourne wrote:

"In my opinion, successive Governments have allowed too many people from the new Commonwealth to settle in the United Kingdom".

It's a pity Mr Gow and his like didn't do a little more in support of that opinion 20 years ago and campaign to stop the flood of coloured immigrants into Britain.

TELEGRAM FOR S.A.S.

PAUL Nash, NF organiser for Enfield and Haringey sent a telegram of congratulations to the Commanding Officer of the 22nd Special Air Service Regiment on their elimination of the IRA unit at Loughall, Co Armagh.

"We would like to congratulate you and your men on the successful action against the enemy at Loughall, an operation in the best tradition of Britain's special forces".

WHAT A SAUCE

A shop owner has been fined £2,500 for trying to sell food over 12 years old.

Rhamanbhai Patel of the Bluebell Minimarket, Uxbridge Road, Shepherds Bush was found guilty of 18 health, hygiene and safety offences including defective flooring, dangerous wiring, and toilets and equipment in a filthy conditions.

BLACKS LINE UP AGAINST KINNOCK

WITH the Labour Party having been humiliated in the general election the worms are really starting to crawl out of the woodwork. On the very night of the poll we were treated to the sight of one of Britain's M.P.'s - Paul Boateng - being greeted by four Black women performing an African tribal dance.

His election speech then went on to announce that the working class of Brent would not be free until the South African government had been overthrown.

The infamous Bernie Grant showed his concern for his constituents in one of his first acts in the House of Commons: he asked whether the government would check all items supplied to the House of Commons to see if they came from South Africa.

■ Dear Old Pals: Kinnock and Grant

■ Diane Abbott

They are joined in Labour's Parliamentary Party by Diane Abbott who has called for what is effectively a communist state with the "seizure of full state power" and taking over "key public buildings and communications installations". It is now becoming increasingly obvious to everyone that the Blacks within the Labour Party are forming a coalition with

Although Kinnock has managed this time to promote a number of his "soft-left" (i.e. state control bit at a time) supporters in the shadow cabinet, this cannot disguise the increase in the number of "hard-left" Labour M.P.'s.

Although Kinnock is desperately trying to hold his party together, it is clear that the extreme left is preparing a putsch - not today, but they won't wait too long and then people who still insist on voting Labour ("because my family has always voted Labour") will find themselves supporting a full blooded communist movement which is quite prepared to use the Blacks in Britain as cannon fodder.

■ Taking Action - A blueprint for revolution from Black Militants

TAKING ACTION

The following steps - in broad outline - would be required:

1. An emergency joint Labour and TUC conference - broadened to include representatives of the whole working class, ethnic minorities, women, lesbians and gay men, etc - to act as replacement to the 'Queen in Parliament' in debating and enacting legislation; complete re-organisation of the labour movement on the basis of elected workers' councils.
2. A guarantee of trade union rights to members of the armed forces.
3. The abolition of the monarchy
4. Take over of key public buildings and communication installations
5. The seizure of full state power
6. An appeal for support from the International working class.

POLICE have encountered politically motivated attempts to drive a wedge between officers and inner-city communities, the new Chief Inspector of Constabulary said on July 15th. In his first annual report, Stanley Barratt warned that tension which could trigger inner city riots continues.

BRISTOL GETS THE FRONT'S MESSAGE

BRISTOL National Front sold out of their quota of July's issue of THE FLAG after a very successful paper sale in the city's Gloucester Road.

The branch have a regular papersale or leafletting session every other Saturday which has helped this smaller NF branch gain some welcome recruits.

A P.O.Box was opened last month and Bristol NF can now be contacted by writing to: The Secretary, P.O.Box 447, Bristol BS99 1DS.

New Recruits and Past Members

JOHN Morse the editor of the British Nationalist newspaper was the guest speaker at the July meeting of Portsmouth NF.

The meeting which took place in Fareham attracted a number of new recruits as well as some welcome former members.

Portsmouth Organiser, Paul Marriott said he was pleased to see a some past members from Southampton getting active again with the aim of re-launching Southampton NF again.

Warm Welcome for Ian Stuart

MORE than sixty members attended the July meeting of Birmingham National Front where the guest speaker was the lead singer of the National Front band Skrewdriver, Ian Stuart.

Ian was very well received at the meeting and made an honorary member of the Branch.

Over £50 was taken in literature sales.

EDITORIAL No.11. August 1987

This issue's LEADER is written by Norman Tomkinson, Treasurer of Birmingham National Front. He asks the question: . . . . .

WHY?

I DON'T BELIEVE that any other political party in Britain has been vilified, attacked, smeared and libelled more so than the National Front. We have had members incarcerated for printing the truth about Black crime, members jailed for speaking out against coloured immigration into this country. Jailed for saying what millions of Britons also think and believe to be true, but are scared for fear of the anti-British race laws. Laws which make second-class citizens of Britons within their own country. We have had members beaten up and, remembering that shining light, an inspiration to us all, Albert Mariner, actually killed whilst attending a lawful election meeting. Members have been attacked whilst on marches and on paper sales. In the May 1986 council elections a Birmingham NF member received seven stitches in his head after blacks threw bricks at him. At the same time two NF members' cars were vandalised whilst we were pasting-up election posters in Bordesley Green. Some of our members have received threatening phone-calls from the Socialist morons in the middle of the night. Left-wing cranks have sent poison-pen letters to our members. One Birmingham NF member was arrested and fined £25 on an Old Bailey 'Free Joe Pearce' march merely for selling two NF badges to fellow members. How vindictive can the police get? Needless to say Birmingham NF Branch voted to pay the fine and then increased the price of the badges!

PROVOCATIVE

I can recall a pro-IRA march through Birmingham in May 1984 when Bob Jones was threatened with arrest for waving a Union Jack flag at the IRA marchers. The police officer said the flag was provocative! What could be more provocative than a rabble of communist IRA-loving scum marching through the streets of a city where 21 innocent people lost their lives in the pub-bombings of 1974.

In May this year the IRA again paraded through Birmingham. Again it was opposed by the local NF. One member was fined £400 for shouting mild abuse at them. At Sheffield earlier in the year NF members were arrested for opposing the IRA. One chap must have been an octopus for at his trial the police said he carried a Union Jack, an Ulster Flag, a placard, 2 flagpoles etc, and was supposed to be given a 'V'-sign to the IRA at the same time! Thank heavens for all NF members who donated to help offset the monstrous fines our heroes of Sheffield received.

Speaking of Sheffield who can ever forget the police dress rehearsal for the miners' strike when a convoy of NF members was blocked off on the M1 for trying to hold an anti-IRA march in Sheffield. Yet there was no similar police operation when we eventually marched in Sheffield weeks later. Very sinister and obviously planned.

Our members have had to endure the lies of Searchlight. Roving reporter Bob Smith really ought to get his facts right! The sight of Gable every now and again on TV-AM telling his fantasy stories about the NF makes you wonder why they do it. Why the media, the press, the TV continually attack the NF? Why the lefties use violence and threats against us? Why the police harass and deny us freedom of speech? Why Thatcher and her cronies create Public Order Acts in an attempt to suppress us. Why the arrogant Peter Walker MP (Worcester) and his "democratic" (sic) fellow MP's raise the election deposit to £500 to try and prevent us from standing in elections? Why Special Branch keep files on our members, tap phones, and interfere with mail. Why? Why? Why?

SIMPLE ANSWER

The answer is simple. The National Front has the potential to be a great and massive political movement. Most people agree with our policies. Thatcher, the reds, the police, the Establishment, the media, Gable, Peter Walker MP, the Special Branch, Uncle Tom Cobley etc are afraid of the National Front. They are afraid that their cozy little nest will be upset. They are correct - it will be upset. We must strive to see that done. We must work harder and harder to form a National Front government. When that day comes the true patriots of Britain will rejoice and our oppressors will quake with fear. We shall not forgive and we shall not forget. We love our country, we love this land. Forward for Britain! Forward with the National Front!

THE TED BUDDEN COLUMN

Seeking to Appease the IRA

PADDYGELD

THE danegeld was a tax raised in the 10th century by the Anglo-Saxons to buy off Danish raiders and induce them to desist from pillaging England. Today, of course, we wouldn't dream of paying Danes protection money - we simply give them vast sums through EEC subsidies.

Now the Tory Party, as we all know, is the party of tradition and is now hellbent on buying off trouble in the good old Anglo-Saxon way. So, when black settlers riot in the no-go areas of our major cities, they announce special measures "to restore and revive the inner cities" - in short, they pay the coongeld.

Now, in Ulster, where they have a little local difficulty with the IRA, they have decided to pay the Paddygeld. Not directly in money of course - Tories are not that crude or that honest. Instead they seek to appease the IRA by demonstrating their disloyalty to the Loyalists.

Emboldened by the success of the Race Relations Act in mainland Britain, they have stated that they intend to extend it to N. Ireland - a clear indication that they regard it as the ideal method of intimidating the indigenous population.

Now they have said that they are going to enact "Fair employment" laws to ensure that "the nationalist community" is not discriminated against.

I've always been intrigued by this description of the subversive elements as the "nationalist community". Since N. Ireland is a province of the United Kingdom, then surely the Loyalists, who insist on continuing the link, are the nationalists. Those people who enjoy the benefits of British citizenship yet support the ludicrous territorial claims of the proud potato republic next door are surely disloyalists.

It is they, naturally, who are to be paid the paddygeld.

The first instalment has already been paid. Short Brothers, the Belfast aircraft manufacturers have, at the instigation of the Government, caused a strike among their workforce by banning the display of "provocative emblems" - namely the Union Flag and the Ulster Flag. It seems that the small disloyalist element among the workforce found them offensive and it is claimed that Short's sales to America might suffer if they incurred the displeasure of IRA supporters there.

The second instalment will be soon forthcoming. The Government intends to monitor the employment practises of companies awarded government contracts or government grants - just about the whole of Ulster's industry - to ensure that the disloyalists get their proportion of the jobs. Since Ulster has the highest unemployment rate in the UK, this must mean that Loyalists will be put on the dole to make way for them.

The Government of Eire is said to be pleased by these measures. So is the IRA. The very next day they expressed their pleasure by murdering a British soldier.

And that is called paying the Danegeld. But we've proved it again and again.

That if once you have paid him the Danegeld, you never get rid of the Dane.

Rudyard Kipling

Bring Back the Rope

Do you remember how, years ago, multi-racialist degenerates tried to convince us of the benefits of coloured immigration (in my case, totally unsuccessfully) by citing the presence among us of numerous sooty saints - the Asian doctors who were infesting the National Health Service.

How could the National Health Service carry on without them? they would demand triumphantly, conjuring up visions of diseased Britons dying like flies for want of medical attention. The fact that our Asian saviours preferred to practise in relatively prosperous Britain rather than in their far less profitable homelands where their fellow countrymen actually were dying like flies was, of course, discreetly ignored.

Well, in fact the NHS would have survived rather better than it has, I fancy.

Certainly the reputation of medical practitioners, who once enjoyed a somewhat undesired near god-like status, would have benefited. As it is now, doctors see their profession widely regarded almost as an up-market branch of the criminal underworld.

For doctors were once renowned for their probity and the appearance of a doctor in a court of law was enough to cause a minor sensation.

Now, not a week goes by without some Asian doctor being arraigned for swindling the NHS out of vast sums of money, or medical malpractice, or incompetence, or molesting female patients, or falsifying medical records, or drug peddling on a grand scale. Is it possible that Ali Baba is the patron saint of Indian medicine?

When I was a lad I didn't even realise that there was such a thing as an Indian medical profession. I thought that all Indian doctors were fakirs - you know, those turbaned persons who conjured a rope out of a basket until it stood vertically far above the ground and then shinned up it and disappeared without trace.

If was wrong of course. But oh, how I wish that they were and that they would!

INDIAN VIOLENCE

The Punjab Today Southall Tomorrow

POLICE fired tear gas to disperse Hindu mobs in New Delhi last month as violence broke out during a protest strike against the massacre of about 70 Hindu bus passengers by Sikh gunmen.

At least 200 people were arrested, and tear gas was fired to disperse crowds which stoned and tried to burn five Sikh homes, two temples and three shops. One temple was partially damaged by fire, and a tyre shop was gutted.

Earlier, shops closed and buses and taxis kept off the compared with 640 in the whole of 1986.

Meanwhile, in Haryana, troops in battle dress paraded on successive days in eight towns where angry crowds had rampaged through the streets attacking and ambushing Sikhs.

In the Punjab, Sikhs issued a statement threatening more attacks on Hindus unless the police "stopped killing Sikh youths".

Although ethnic and religious differences in India shouldn't streets in New Delhi as members of the Hindu revivalist Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), some armed with staves, roamed the capital urging people to observe the strike.

Police described much of north India as very tense after graphic accounts and gory photographs of the Sikh ambushes of Hindu bus passengers were published. At least 600 people have been killed in Sikh violence so far this year really be of any concern to the British people, it is highly likely that the violence in India will spill over onto British streets where Sikhs and Hindus live side by side. The warning signs are there for all to see. It is only a matter of time before Sikhs and Hindus are fighting each other on the streets of Southall, Slough and other towns with a high Indian population.

LAW OF THE JUNGLE

TWO black women and four children burned to death in a clash between rival clans of South Africa's Zulu tribe last month. The women and children died when their grass hut was torched by men from a rival clan in the remote Ematimatola area of Natal province.

This and many other incidents like it illustrate the likelihood of a blood bath in South Africa if blacks ever take over. As in so much of the rest of Africa, prevailing tribal tensions will signal a return to barbarism.

Africa's Loan Ranger

PRESIDENT Omar Bongo of Gabon has come up with an original wheeze for raising money - a "solidarity" fund. Citizens will show their support by having £24 million deducted from their wages this year, and a little more next year. Mr Bongo is reticent about what he will do with the loot, and when it might be repaid.

Eight Killed in Race Riots

REBELS trying to drive Bengali-speaking immigrants out of Tripura state in India shot dead four villagers and then four policemen sent to investigate during racial troubles in July.

No EEC means No VAT

BRITISH people are not paying enough tax to the Common Market. That is the view of the Conservative Commissioner to the EEC, Lord Cockfield.

He wants VAT to be charged on even more items such as food, children's clothes, books and newspapers.

Lord Cockfield tried for nearly two hours at an EEC meeting in Strasbourg last month to push through a plan which would end zero rating on such items in the UK. And although he failed on this occasion the EEC has agreed to put the schedule on to a future agenda when it is expected to go through.

The Flag takes a totally opposite view to Lord Cockfield. As far as we are concerned the British taxpayer is overburdened already. Not only should he not have to pay VAT on food, children's clothes, books and newspapers, he should not have to pay VAT on any other items either. Quite simply, VAT should be scrapped as should Britain's membership of the costly Common Market which caused VAT to be introduced in the first place.

No EEC means no VAT!

MUSIC SCENE with Bob Nash

THE far-Left as they exist in Britain today like to portray themselves as the spokesmen of the British people. Similarly they like to, through their propaganda, promote the idea that they are totally in touch with the youth culture as it exists in current British society. They particularly pride themselves in thinking that they have heavily influenced British youth through the sphere of popular music. In fact nothing could be further from the truth.

There are of course a large number of Red music papers such as The Medoly Maker, Sounds and the unreadable N.M.E. These purveyors of Red rubbish have failed to brainwash young people sufficiently into supporting extreme Left politics, and so the far-Left have resorted to using an assortment of misfit groups and artists to champion their cause.

The most recent manifestation of music-based Red propaganda is the organisation known as Red Wedge, supposedly an organisation geared to helping the youth of Britain against the problems they face such as unemployment; Red Wedge has proved in fact to be simply a Red music front geared towards finance and support for the Labour Party. A whole motley crew of Red groups and artists have played on various dates of the Red Wedge tour across mainland Britain. Spineless wonders such as; The Communards the Housemartins, Billy Bragg, the Style Council and the Blow Monkeys, have all played at Red Wedge Concerts but their efforts have met with, as far as they're concerned, disappointing results. Although the promoters of Red Wedge have succeeded in fleecing hundreds of youngsters of their pocket money, they have failed in their main aim of getting young people to go out and actually do political work such as leafletting and canvassing on behalf of the Labour Party. As one of the female Red Wedge reps admitted to an ITV reporter two weeks before the general election, 'young people are quite happy to listen to the music but they can't be bothered to get actively involved'.

The above examples all go to show how ineffective Red groups are in spreading a left-wing political message. In the end all this really goes to show is that Red music as an entity is truly out of tune with the hopes and aspirations of British Youth today, and that is why the promoters of extreme Left politics are treated with the contempt they so richly deserve by the vast majority of British youngsters.

■ League Leaders Leeds National Front F.C.: A different class to the teams they have played

LEEDS GO TOP OF NF LEAGUE

Croydon & Newham Thrashed 10-3!

THE National Front Football League got off to a flying start over the week-end of 25th and 26th July.

First, on Saturday July 25th, a mini-bus containing the Leeds National Front team arrived in London to take on the Skrewdriver XI. The venue for the match was a pitch at Regents' Park.

From the very start of this match the better organised Leeds team were on top. The fact that they had been practising twice a week gave them the edge and they went one-nil up after only two minutes.

But the Skrewdriver team fought back bravely with Ian Stuart pulling off some fine saves before Leeds scored again just before half-time.

During the second half Leeds continued to dominate. Peter Taylor completed his hat-trick and an own goal put Leeds four-nil up. The Skrewdriver XI scored a late consolation goal making the score at the end of the match four-one.

On the evening of Saturday, July 25th both teams spent the night socialising with about two hundred other Nationalists at the Prince Albert public house in Kings Cross.

On the following Sunday morning the Leeds team turned up at Brick Lane market in London's East End to help the regular NF sellers with their sale of The Flag and Vanguard.

At 11 o'clock the Leeds mini-bus, along with three cars containing the team from Newham & Croydon National Front, made their way to Hackney Marshes for the second match of the week-end.

In the first twenty minutes of this game it was the London side who dominated, with Tony Murphy and Kevin Bennett putting the home side two-nil up. But the skill of Leeds' Keith Brandon, who has had trials for Bradford City, dragged the visitors back into the game. Indeed, it was a fine headed goal by him which opened Leeds' scoring. From then on it was the turn of the Leeds team to dominate and two goals by John Gordon and one by Peter Taylor meant that Leeds were winning four-two at half time.

The second half can only be described as a rout with the home side collapsing under Leeds' pressure. Goal after goal followed leaving Leeds ten-three victors.

Consequently, with two convincing victories under their belt, the Leeds team returned to Yorkshire in the knowledge that they are top of the League. In fact, they must surely now be favourites for the Championship. But with teams from the West Midlands, Sussex and elsewhere still to play it is clear that there is still a long way to go.

BLOODY DISGRACE

DAVID Jenkins, the British athlete who won a silver medal at the 1972 Olympic Games, has been charged with masterminding an international drug smuggling operation in America.

In the bail application hearing, the prosecution claimed David Jenkins was "about to flee to Britain to escape prosecution". His defence claimed that he was only going "to Daley Thompson's wedding".

When a person achieves the level of prominence of an olympic athlete he must also accept the responsibility that goes with such success. If David Jenkins has abused that responsibility in the most appalling way possible - by trafficking in lethal drugs - then Britain wants nothing to do with him.

If he is found guilty then Britain should withdraw his citizenship and declare him to be an alien of the most undesirable kind possible.

A Commodity Just Bought and Sold

IN the last twelve months or so Britain has lost our four most expensive football players to European clubs. Ian Rush has gone to Juventus for £3.2 million, Gary Lineker and Mark Hughes have gone to Barcelona for a combined figure of £5 million, while Mark Hateley has recently moved from AC Milan to Monaco for £2 million.

These absurd sums are continuing to turn football from being our national sport into an industry where footballers are simply regarded as a commodity to be bought and sold.

In this country some of our clubs are jeopardising their futures by joining in this escalating auction of our footballers. Not only is this threatening to bankrupt a number of clubs, it is also denying youngsters an opportunity to play for their local clubs. In effect it is also creating a few super-clubs while smaller clubs based in medium sized towns will soon not be able to get a look in.

Perhaps the most incredible case of a club buying a team, has been Glasgow Rangers which now has seven English players, mostly bought over the last 18 months. Glasgow Rangers has a fine history as a football club (as detailed in a recent issue of The Flag, but surely such a club can find plenty of talent amongst the youngsters of Glasgow without looking south of the border.

The National Front firmly believes that all football clubs - British and European - should seek the next generation of players from their own locality, not in the international transfer market which is more and more coming to resemble some wierd stock exchange with financial whizz-kids manipulating the market.

South African Rugby Tour

ALBERT Ferrasse, the French President of the International Rugby Board, has called for a combined five nations tour to South Africa. Speaking in Auckland, New Zealand, he said that he favoured sending a touring party made up of players from England, Ireland Scotland, Wales and France to South Africa sometime next year. At least one reason for this statement is the increasing number of rugby players who are going to be touring South Africa in the near future, whether or not such tours are sanctioned by rugby union officials.

Raving Over Rovers

THEY'RE raving over Rovers at the Merseyside Community Relations Council. Raving mad that is.

Brian Thompson of Merseyside CRC is hopping mad over the seemingly harmless Roy of The Rovers comic. Last year, he complained when half the Melchester Rovers team were slaughtered by Arab terrorists. In the wake of these "xenophobic images", Roy Race the comic's star was dubbed 'Roy Racist' by less than amused community relations chiefs.

In a bid to rid Roy of the racist tag, the comic introduced two new players to the Melchester Rovers team. They were Bruno Johnson, a black post-graduate who once studied the relationship between pop music and Africa tribal drums, and Pak Soon, a Vietnamese boat-person.

But Brian Johnson and the Merseyside Community Relations Council are still not amused.

Both are negative racial stereotypes, claims Thompson, who finds Pak's nickname of Paky "highly offensive".

As far as The Flag is concerned, Brian Johnson's 'we are not amused' attitude is highly amusing. A case of too much "Paky-bashing" if you ask us!

RACING INFORMATION ★ RACING INFORMATION

WITH last month's selection Athens Gate duly obliging at 8-1, The FLAG's punters should be well in pocket in 1987.

Reference Point again did us a favour winning the St George at 13-8, but we are still waiting for Ferryman to come good.

August suggestions are Merrick Francis's 3 year-old Tribute to Youth and his seasoned sprinter Numismatist.

Both should be winning shortly.
